LA FOLLETTEWashington Gossip Has New Presidential Ticket.

OFFICIALS REMAIN SILENT

While Declining to Discuss Former President's Broadside Regarding the Trusts National Officials View the Article as an Announcement of Opening a Campaign for the Next Presidential Nomination.

New York, Nov. 18.—A Washington special to the New York World says: Official Washington, preferring to maintain silence upon the declaration of Theodore Roosevelt upon the subject of legislation affecting "big business," united in the view that the new Roosevelt broadside was in effect an announcement of the opening of a campaign for the next presidential nomination. Linked with Roosevelt in the official gossip was the name of Robert La Follette of Wisconsin.

The politically wise thought they read in the stars which the colonel knocked from the trust's firmament the making of a political slate in which he is to head the ticket, with La Follette, as a representative of the progressive element of the Middle West, as his running mate. There did not appear to be any serious doubt in any quarter that this was the logical result of the Roosevelt pronouncement. This political view was taken of the case.

It was surprising that President Taft and the members of his official family declined to comment upon Colonel Roosevelt's view of the Sherman law prosecutions. The news came from the White House to the waiting interviewers that the president would make no statement with reference to the article. Attorney General Wickensham declined to see any one who called with the statement that an interview on Roosevelt was wanted. Secretary Knox and Secretary Nagel followed the presidential lead.

When a suggestion was sought of what course the president would follow it came in the form of a mere intimation that the administration would in future push its trust prosecutions with more vigor than ever, in that the steel trust would be made to toe the mark in jig time. It was also intimated that the criminal prosecution of the beef trust would be more vigorous.

BREACH WITH TAFT DEFINITE

Question That Puzzles Is Whether Roosevelt Is a Candidate.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The Roosevelt trust editorial is regarded here as furnishing the last scrap of evidence, if such a thing is needed, that there is no longer any political affinity between President Taft and the former president.

Whether it means that Roosevelt himself is to be considered as a candidate for president next year is a question disturbing the Republican stand-patters and progressives.

Most of the progressives do not believe that Roosevelt has any idea of being a candidate next year. They think that he is likely to support a progressive for the nomination, preferably La Follette. In this connection it is significant that in the latter part of the editorial Roosevelt pays a tribute to the manner in which Wisconsin dealt with the corporations within her borders. The whole policy of Wisconsin toward the trusts was formulated and put into practice by La Follette.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Officials of the Duluth and Iron Range railroad and the Duluth, Missabe and Northern railroad, the lines in the Lake Superior region owned by the steel trust, have been summoned to appear before the house committee of inquiry into the United States Steel corporation, which resumes hearings next Monday.

Representative Stanley, chairman of the committee, announced that the inquiry for some time will be directed into the transportation charges for the shipment of ore, which, it is contended, are exorbitant and greatly to the disadvantage of independent shippers.

INCIDENT AT RUSSIAN COURT

New York Banker Says While President Taft Was Assuring Delegations of Hebrews That America Was Trying to Effect Change in Russia's Attitude Ambassador Rockhill Was Only Working to Get Business for American Manufacturers.

New York, Nov. 18.—Jacob H. Schiff, the banker, assailed the attitude of William Rockhill, while American ambassador at St. Petersburg, on the passport question. Mr. Schiff said that, while President Taft was assuring delegations of Jews the government was making every effort to obtain a change of attitude on the part of Russia. Mr. Rockhill had asserted that he considered the matter of no great importance, but was at St. Petersburg "trying to get business for American manufacturers and did not intend to jeopardize those interests."

The gathering addressed by Mr. Schiff met at the office of United States Senator James A. O'Gorman to request Senators O'Gorman and Root to support the senate resolution calling for an abrogation of the treaty of 1832 between the United States and Russia, unless Russia recedes from her position of refusing to honor American passports issued to Jews. Senator Root declared his belief that a continuance of patient negotiations between the two countries would bring about an amicable adjustment of the difficulty and promised to support the government in such negotiations. Senator O'Gorman said he would vote for the immediate abrogation of the treaty unless Russia should elect to honor all American passports issued.

Wanted Financial Footing.
"About a year and a half ago," Mr. Schiff said, "Mr. Wilenkin, a financial agent of the Russian government, came to me and urged me, as he had done before, to lend my influence to Russia's obtaining some financial footing here. I told him that it could not be done."

"A little later he came to me rejoicing. He told me that he had just made favorable arrangements for forming a syndicate of American manufacturers for the exportation of American products to Russia and for the construction in Russia of American plants under American management."

"When I asked him with whom he had made these arrangements he said with John Hays Hammond. I told him that Mr. Hammond was not a manufacturer, but a mining engineer, and asked him why he made arrangements with Mr. Hammond. Wilenkin answered:

"Because of the influence he has on President Taft."

"That Wilenkin's statements were true was proved later, when Mr. Hammond went to Russia and came back proclaiming himself convinced that the czar was one of the most liberal monarchs on earth."

"What does Russia do? It even thinks it can influence the president of the United States. Should we remain quiescent and remain obedient to Russia's behests?"

PLACE FOR SENATOR NELSON

To Become Chairman of Committee
on Commerce.

Washington, Nov. 18.—It became known here that Senator Nelson of Minnesota has decided to accept the chairmanship of the committee on commerce.

This is one of the most important committees in the senate organization. It has jurisdiction over river and harbor appropriations and all legislation bearing on water powers and the construction of bridges and dams in navigable streams. A vacancy was created at the head of the commerce committee by the death of Senator Frye of Maine.

For many years Senator Nelson has been chairman of the committee on public lands. He has decided to relinquish this post.

TERRIFIC GALE IS
RAGING ON LAKESMany Vessels Are Damaged and Barges Break Loose.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Almost a score of damaged vessels in places of refuge; a number of deserted barges left to the mercy of the elements; several costly vessels grounded; many sailors cared for at lifesaving stations and prospects that the lifesavers must battle throughout the night to prevent the loss of lives—such is already the partial toll of a fierce gale and storm which rages on Lakes Huron and Michigan and across the Straits of Mackinac.

Alpena was practically isolated for hours; Mackinaw City, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Cadillac and neighboring cities were in the path of the storm. Passenger and freight trains have been tied up at Cadillac.

The steam barge Isabelle Royce, coal laden, and the steamer United Lumberman reached Alpena minus their barges. The Royce lost hers between Middle and Thunder Bay islands and both lifesaving crews are searching for it. A tug attempted to give assistance to the United Lumberman's barges, but was unable to get close by. Alpena also reports that the lumber schooner Coradand is in a bad way off Scarescow point, near which place is another steamer either aground or anchored.

Less than a mile from her Mackinaw City dock is the new car ferry Chief Wawatam, aground. She cannot be released until the storm abates, but is expected to weather the gale.

WHITTIER RESIGNS OFFICE

Minnesota Board of Control Exonerates
Prison Official.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—Frank A. Whittier, superintendent of the state training school for boys at Red Wing, was exonerated unanimously by the state board of control from charges preferred against him by Ralph W. Wheelock, secretary to Governor A. O. Eberhart.

The board accepted Mr. Whittier's resignation and will appoint a successor as soon as possible and Mr. Wheelock expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the outcome of the year long campaign against the superintendent. Mr. Whittier is also satisfied. He may remain at his post till July 31, 1912.

The three members of the board agree in refusing to dismiss Mr. Whittier, but it is understood that the unanimous decision was reached only after Mr. Whittier had agreed to resign. The outcome saves Governor Eberhart from carrying out his threatened removal of P. M. Ringdal and C. E. Vasily from the board. It is understood to be satisfactory to the governor, who was advised of the action beforehand.

PARCELS POST
BEING ADVANCEDSenator Bourne Wants to Include All Mail Routes.

HITCHCOCK WOULD RESTRICT.

Postmaster General Would Make Experiment on Rural Routes First—Labor Organizations Oppose—Will Arbitration Treaties Be Discussed in Open Senate?

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Nov. 18.—[Special.]—Parcels post legislation has been engrossing the attention of the senate committee on postoffice for several days. Senator Bourne has been working on the subject all summer and will have a plan to present to the committee after it has heard officers of the postoffice department.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has heretofore recommended that legislation for experimental work on rural routes be passed, but he will go further this year and recommend that parcels post be established on all rural routes at the earliest practicable moment. Senator Bourne has not been in favor of any limitation, but advocates parcels post on all mail routes.

Organized Opposition.
"If you try to establish it everywhere," one of the postoffice officials told Bourne, "you will defeat everything. Labor organizations and country merchants are prepared to make a great fight against general parcels post legislation, and if they work to gether they will make it mighty hard to get anything."

Just why labor organizations should be interested does not seem clear, but the real motive behind the opposition has enlisted every person possible. Bales of petitions in opposition to parcels post have been sent to congress. Now that it seems likely that something in this direction will be accomplished it is almost certain that the opposition will be renewed.

Merely a Moot Question.
Already there is a demand that the arbitration treaties with France and England should be discussed in open senate instead of executive session. Time after time such demands have been made regarding treaties, such as the peace treaty with Spain, the Hay-Pauncefote treaty for building the Panama canal and other treaties which were said to be of vital public interest. And always more time was consumed than necessary, because the senate will never consent to discuss a treaty in the open.

The senators claim they want to be at liberty to say what they please without the risk of offending a foreign government. There is also the fear that once a treaty is discussed in the open the tradition of the senate as far as its executive sessions are concerned will be smashed and secret sessions will finally be abandoned.

Punishing Baltimore.
Already it is being claimed that Baltimore will not get the Democratic national convention because that city elected a Republican governor of Maryland, the vote in the city deciding the election. But that is not the only reason Baltimore will not be selected.

It takes a lot of votes, and most of the votes in the committee are located west of the Allegheny mountains. But it will be a good excuse to say they are punishing Baltimore for voting as it desired on the governorship.

Figuring on Chairmanships.

It has been figured out that Senator Nelson of Minnesota will become chairman of commerce in place of the late Senator Frye, that Senator Smoot of Utah will become chairman of public lands and Senator Page of Vermont will become chairman of printing. These calculations may be upset by Smoot desiring to retain the chairmanship of printing, which is a right desirable place.

Because his initials are C. S. and he is engaged in the leather business Senator Page is called "Calf Skin" by a number of employees who do not have quite the reverence for United States senators that they should have. They are very careful not to get caught in this flippancy.

Relic Hunters.

At a senate furniture sale recently a table which was used by former Senator Gorman of Maryland brought $30, and a desk which he was said to have occupied was sold for the same amount. A carpet from the room long occupied by the late Senator Daniel of Virginia brought $50.

The relic hunters who bought this stuff were no doubt deceived, for the negroes handling the furniture told all kinds of stories as to the ownership of certain articles, and no two of them agreed. But the buyers will no doubt prize their purchases as objects of historic interest. There is a sort of belief among many people that articles owned or used by great men possess some rare virtues.

Bourne's Cigars.

Senator Bourne always has a supply of cigars and can fish them out of his pockets like a magician taking things out of a plug hat. The supply is inexhaustible, but no one ever saw Bourne laying in stock. He can go for hours handing out cigars, and there is always another for his next visitor.

PACKERS SEE HOPE IN
COMMENT OF JUDGEHail Court's Remark as Fore-
runner of Victory.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Indicted Chicago packers, who are seeking a ruling from the United States supreme court on the validity of the Sherman anti-trust law, expressed themselves as much encouraged when United States Circuit Judge C. C. Kohlstaad said he saw little reason to question the effectiveness of the custody of the defendants, upon which the disputed habeas corpus proceedings originated.

Some of those interested in the defense hailed the court's practical decision of the point of custody as a forerunner of victory for the packers in the habeas corpus fight.

Comment regarding the point of custody was made by the court while United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson was concluding his arguments against the packers' writ.

"I don't think there is much question about whether these parties were in custody that would justify the issuance of the writ," said Judge Kohlstaad. The remark challenged instant attention from lawyers, defendants and spectators in the courtroom.

Counsel for both sides finished their arguments on the government's motion to quash and Judge Kohlstaad asked for a list of the citations advanced in the last two days.

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—The literary career of Speaker Champ Clark has been nearly blasted by politics and the Chautauqua circuit. "Now I am done with the lecture business. These Chautauqua bureaus, if you dicker with them long enough, will certainly get your goat. They are more jealous of their lecturers than opera managers are of their stars."

Savings Banks Trustees Announce
They Will Purchase Them.

Washington, Nov. 18.—In order to maintain the parity of the postal savings bonds the trustees of the postal savings banks announced that they would purchase these securities at par from persons compelled to relinquish their investment. This action resulted from the recent report that the market value of these bonds is only 92.

Postmaster General Hitchcock said no depositor would endanger his principal by exchanging his postal savings deposit for postal savings bonds. The postal savings act authorizes the trustees to withdraw at any time 30 per cent of postal savings funds on deposit for investment in United States bonds. It was this provision that enabled the trustees to offer to buy the postal savings bonds which bear 2½ per cent interest.

Tobacco Case Enlivens Senate
Committee Session.

POMERENE RAPS WICKERSHAM

Ohio Senator Directs Pointed Questions to Witness Before Committee on Interstate Commerce, Which Is Investigating the Trust Problem With a View to Enacting New Legislation.

Washington, Nov. 18.—A general attack upon the decree of the circuit court of New York in the dissolution of the American Tobacco company and a specific comparison of the activities of Attorney General Wickersham and former Attorney General Judson Harmon in enforcing the Sherman anti-trust law against great combinations enlivened the hearings of the senate committee on interstate commerce which is investigating the trust problem with a view to new legislation.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio directed several pointed questions to H. B. Martin, a witness before the committee.

"There appears to be little effort in the department of justice to enforce the criminal provisions of the law," Senator Pomerene said. "Do you know of any statute or other authority which justifies an attorney general in taking the position that he may enforce the statute in the civil courts, but decline to enforce its criminal provisions? I regard the course of the department in its failure to enforce these provisions as most reprehensible."

Senator Oliver was the only member of the committee who replied to the attacks on the attorney general. Also addressing the witness he wanted to know what the latter thought of the "comparative reprehensibility" of the attorney general "who actively and successfully enforces a law like this, who resurrects it and makes it effective and proceeds at least toward successful criminal prosecutions, as compared with one of his predecessors, who did not and who practically declared the law a dead letter."

Refers to Judson Harmon.

"I refer to former Attorney General Judson Harmon of Ohio," Senator Oliver said, looking across the table to Senator Pomerene.

The committee showed signs of an incipient outbreak. Senator Pomerene said it was not Mr. Harmon, but his predecessor, Richard Olney, who had said, in substance, that the law was a dead letter. Mr. Harmon, he said, took up and pushed to a decision in the supreme court the transmissouri rate case and made every effort to revivify the Sherman law. Other members of the committee refrained from taking part in the discussion.

The dissolution decree in the American Tobacco company case, dividing the trust into four separate organizations, was characterized several times during the hearings as a construction of the Sherman law that failed to restore competition or meet the spirit of desired trust control. Senator Cummins said he did not believe there could be actual competition enforced under the present Sherman law.

"There are clearly two movements under way for changes in the Sherman law," Senator Sherman said. "The first for a mitigation of the provisions of the law; the other towards amendments and supplementary acts that will make it a more efficient instrument for the preservation of competition."

He expressed his sympathy with the latter, adding that "the two plans have little in common."

Senator Cummins referred to a possible limitation of the capital stock of corporations; a divorcing of manufacturing business from sources of supplies and a separation of business and transportation elements as changes in the law which would lead to better competition.

OFFICIALS REMAIN SILENT

While Declining to Discuss Former President's Broadside Regarding the Trusts National Officials View the Article as an Announcement of Opening a Campaign for the Next Presidential Nomination.

New York, Nov. 18.—A Washington special to the New York World says: Official Washington, preferring to maintain silence upon the declaration of Theodore Roosevelt upon the subject of legislation affecting "big business," united in the view that the new Roosevelt broadside was in effect an announcement of the opening of a campaign for the next presidential nomination. Linked with Roosevelt in the official gossip was the name of Robert La Follette of Wisconsin.

The politically wise thought they read in the stars which the colonel knocked from the trust's firmament the making of a political slate in which he is to head the ticket, with La Follette, as a representative of the progressive element of the Middle West, as his running mate. Doubt did not appear to be any serious doubt in any quarter that this was the logical result of the Roosevelt pronouncement. This political view was taken of the case.

It was surprising that President Taft and the members of his official family declined to comment upon Colonel Roosevelt's view of the Sherman law prosecutions. The news came from the White House to the waiting interviewers that the president would make no statement with reference to the article. Attorney General Wickersham declined to see any one who called with the statement that an interview with Roosevelt was wanted. Secretary Knox and Secretary Nagel followed the presidential lead.

When a suggestion was sought of what course the president would follow it came in the form of a mere intimation that the administration would in future push its trust prosecutions with more vigor than ever, in that the steel trust would be made to toe the mark in jig time. It was also intimated that the criminal prosecution of the beef trust would be more vigorous.

BREACH WITH TAFT DEFINITE

Question That Puzzles Is Whether Roosevelt Is a Candidate.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The Roosevelt trust editorial is regarded here as furnishing the last scrap of evidence, if such a thing is needed, that there is no longer any political affinity between President Taft and the former president.

Whether it means that Roosevelt himself is to be considered as a candidate for president next year is a question disturbing the Republican stand-patners and progressives.

Most of the progressives do not believe that Roosevelt has any idea of being a candidate next year. They think that he is likely to support a progressive for the nomination, preferably La Follette. In this connection it is significant that in the latter part of the editorial Roosevelt pays a tribute to the manner in which Wisconsin dealt with the corporations within her borders. The whole policy of Wisconsin toward the trusts was formulated and put into practice by La Follette.

INCIDENT AT RUSSIAN COURT

New York Banker Says While President Taft Was Assuring Delegations of Hebrews That America Was Trying to Effect Change in Russia's Attitude Ambassador Rockhill Was Only Working to Get Business for American Manufacturers.

New York, Nov. 18.—Jacob H. Schiff, the banker, assailed the attitude of William Rockhill, while American ambassador at St. Petersburg, on the passport question. Mr. Schiff said that, while President Taft was assuring delegations of Jews the government was making every effort to obtain a change of attitude on the part of Russia. Mr. Rockhill had asserted that he considered the matter of no great importance, but was at St. Petersburg "trying to get business for American manufacturers and did not intend to jeopardize those interests."

The gathering addressed by Mr. Schiff met at the office of United States Senator James A. O'Gorman to request Senators O'Gorman and Root to support the senate resolution calling for an abrogation of the treaty of 1832 between the United States and Russia, unless Russia recedes from her position of refusing to honor American passports issued to Jews.

Senator Root declared his belief that a continuance of patient negotiations between the two countries would bring about an amicable adjustment of the difficulty and promised to support the government in such negotiations. Senator O'Gorman said he would vote for the immediate abrogation of the treaty unless Russia should elect to honor all American passports issued.

Wanted Financial Footing. "About a year and a half ago," Mr. Schiff said, "Mr. Wilenkin, a financial agent of the Russian government, came to me and urged me, as he had done before, to lend my influence to Russia's obtaining some financial footing here. I told him that it could not be done."

"A little later he came to me rejoicing. He told me that he had just made favorable arrangements for forming a syndicate of American manufacturers for the exportation of American products to Russia and for the construction in Russia of American plants under American management."

"When I asked him with whom he had made these arrangements he said with John Hays Hammond. I told him that Mr. Hammond was not a manufacturer, but a mining engineer, and asked him why he made arrangements with Mr. Hammond. Wilenkin answered:

"Because of the influence he has on President Taft."

"That Wilenkin's statements were true was proved later, when Mr. Hammond went to Russia and came back proclaiming himself convinced that the czar was one of the most liberal monarchs on earth."

"What does Russia do? It even thinks it can influence the president of the United States. Should we remain quiescent and remain obedient to Russia's behests?"

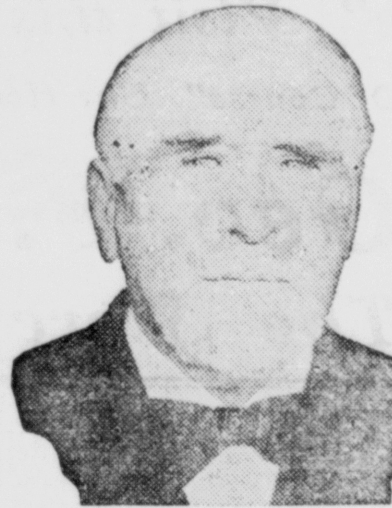

Although the date for holding the next meeting was not decided it was tentatively agreed to convene during the last week of next August. The official headquarters were located for only one year.

The congress did not openly endorse the plan of the national monetary commission to change the currency and banking system of the country, but the resolution adopted stated that the plan "may be a step in the right direction." It was recommended that the plan be given careful and conservative consideration, "as the money system of the United States is inadequate for the needs of the country and remedial legislation is urgently needed."

Senate Commerce Committee.

PLACE FOR SENATOR NELSON

To Become Chairman of Committee
on Commerce.

Washington, Nov. 18.—It became known here that Senator Nelson of Minnesota has decided to accept the chairmanship of the committee on commerce.

This is one of the most important committees in the senate organization. It has jurisdiction over river and harbor appropriations and all legislation bearing on water powers and the construction of bridges and dams in navigable streams. A vacancy was created at the head of the commerce committee by the death of Senator Frye of Maine.

For many years Senator Nelson has been chairman of the committee on public lands. He has decided to relinquish this post.

TERRIFIC GALE IS
RAGING ON LAKESMany Vessels Are Damaged and Barges Break Loose.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Almost a score of damaged vessels in places of refuge; a number of deserted barges left to the mercy of the elements; several costly vessels grounded; many sailors cared for at lifesaving stations and prospects that the lifesavers must battle throughout the night to prevent the loss of lives—such is already the partial toll of a fierce gale and storm which rages on Lakes Huron and Michigan and across the Straits of Mackinac.

Alpena was practically isolated for hours; Mackinaw City, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Cadillac and neighboring cities were in the path of the storm. Passenger and freight trains have been tied up at Cadillac.

The steam barge Isabelle Royce, coal laden, and the steamer United Lumberman reached Alpena minus their barges. The Royce lost hers between Middle and Thunder Bay islands and both lifesaving crews are searching for it. A tug attempted to give assistance to the United Lumberman's barges, but was unable to get close by.

Alpena also reports that the lumber schooner Coresand is in a bad way off Scarescow point, near which place is another steamer either aground or anchored.

Less than a mile from her Mackinaw City dock is the new car ferry Chief Wawatam, aground. She cannot be released until the storm abates, but is expected to weather the gale.

WHITTIER RESIGNS OFFICE

Minnesota Board of Control Exonerates
Prison Official.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—Frank A. Whittier, superintendent of the state training school for boys at Red Wing, was exonerated unanimously by the state board of control from charges preferred against him by Ralph V. Wheelock, secretary to Governor A. O. Eberhart.

The board accepted Mr. Whittier's resignation and will appoint a successor as soon as possible and Mr. Wheelock expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the outcome of the year long campaign against the superintendent. Mr. Whittier is also satisfied. He may remain at his post till July 31, 1912.

The three members of the board agree in refusing to dismiss Mr. Whittier, but it is understood that the unanimous decision was reached only after Mr. Whittier had agreed to resign. The outcome saves Governor Eberhart from carrying out his threatened removal of P. M. Ringdal and C. E. Vasaly from the board. It is understood to be satisfactory to the governor, who was advised of the action beforehand.

PARCELS POST
BEING ADVANCEDSenator Bourne Wants to Include All Mail Routes.

HITCHCOCK WOULD RESTRICT.

Postmaster General Would Make Experiment on Rural Routes First—Labor Organizations Oppose—Will Arbitration Treaties Be Discussed in Open Senate?

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 18.—[Special.]—Parcels post legislation has been engrossing the attention of the senate committee on postoffices for several days. Senator Bourne has been working on the subject all summer and will have a plan to present to the committee after it has heard officers of the postoffice department.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has heretofore recommended that legislation for experimental work on rural routes be passed, but he will go further this year and recommend that parcels post be established on all rural routes at the earliest practicable moment. Senator Bourne has not been in favor of any limitation, but advocates parcels post on all mail routes.

Organized Opposition.

"If you try to establish it everywhere," one of the postoffice officials told Bourne, "you will defeat everything. Labor organizations and country merchants are prepared to make a great fight against general parcels post legislation, and if they work together they will make it mighty hard to get anything."

Just why labor organizations should be interested does not seem clear, but the real motive behind the opposition has enlisted every person possible. Bales of petitions in opposition to parcels post have been sent to congress. Now that it seems likely that something in this direction will be accomplished it is almost certain that the opposition will be renewed.

Merely a Moot Question.

Already there is a demand that the arbitration treaties with France and England should be discussed in open senate instead of executive session. Time after time such demands have been made regarding treaties, such as the peace treaty with Spain, the Hay-Pauncefote treaty for building the Panama canal and other treaties which were said to be of vital public interest. And always more time was consumed than necessary, because the senate will never consent to discuss a treaty in the open.

The senators claim they want to be at liberty to say what they please without the risk of offending a foreign government. There is also the fear that once a treaty is discussed in the open the tradition of the senate as far as its executive sessions are concerned will be smashed and secret sessions will finally be abandoned.

Punishing Baltimore.

Already it is being claimed that Baltimore will not get the Democratic national convention because that city elected a Republican governor of Maryland, the vote in the city deciding the election. But that is not the only reason Baltimore will not be selected.

It takes a lot of votes, and most of the votes in the committee are located west of the Allegheny mountains. But it will be a good excuse to say they are punishing Baltimore for voting as it desired on the governorship.

Figuring on Chairmanships.

It has been figured out that Senator Nelson of Minnesota will become chairman of commerce in place of the late Senator Frye, that Senator Smoot of Utah will become chairman of public lands and Senator Page of Vermont will become chairman of printing. These calculations may be upset by Smoot desiring to retain the chairmanship of printing, which is a right desirable place.

Because his initials are C. S. and he is engaged in the leather business Senator Page is called "Calf Skin" by a number of employees who do not have quite the reverence for United States senators that they should have. They are very careful not to get caught at this flimsy page.

Relic Hunters.

At a senate furniture sale recently a table which was used by former Senator Gorman of Maryland brought $30, and a desk which he was said to have occupied was sold for the same amount. A carpet from the room long occupied by the late Senator Daniel of Virginia brought $50.

The relic hunters who bought this stuff were no doubt deceived, for the negroes handling the furniture told all kinds of stories as to the ownership of certain articles, and no two of them agreed. But the buyers will no doubt prize their purchases as objects of historic interest. There is a sort of belief among many people that articles owned or used by great men possess some rare virtues.

Bourne's Cigars.

Senator Bourne always has a supply of cigars and can fish them out of his pockets like a magician taking things out of a plug hat. The supply is inexhaustible, but no one ever saw Bourne laying in stock. He can go for hours handing out cigars, and there is always another for his next visitor.

When this work is completed the island will be one of the most strongly fortified of the British possessions.

PACKERS SEE HOPE IN
COMMENT OF JUDGEHail Court's Remark as Fore-
runner of Victory.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Indicted Chicago packers, who are seeking a ruling from the United States supreme court on the validity of the Sherman anti-trust law, expressed themselves as much encouraged when United States Circuit Judge C. C. Kohlman said he saw little reason to question the effectiveness of the custody of the defendants, upon which the disputed habeas corpus proceedings originated.

Some of those interested in the defense hailed the court's practical decision of the point of custody as a forerunner of victory for the packers in the habeas corpus fight.

Comment regarding the point of custody was made by the court while United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson was concluding his arguments against the packers' writ.

"I don't think there is much question about whether these parties were in custody that would justify the issuance of the writ," said Judge Kohlman. The remark challenged instant attention from lawyers, defendants and spectators in the courtroom.

Counsel for both sides finished their arguments on the government's motion to quash and Judge Kohlman asked for a list of the citations advanced in the last two days.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Multimillionaire jurors, whose aggregate wealth totals more than $200,000,000, listened to forty-one insanity cases at the detention hospital, comparing the poverty, the sorrow and the anguish of the unfortunate with the sunshine, the luxury and the happiness of vast riches.

Responding to the call of the law the jury began work at 8:30 a. m. and kept busy until afternoon. Every man summoned responded to the call of Judge Owens and sat for hours transfixed by the parade of wrecked manhood and womanhood that appeared.

CLARK TO QUIT LECTURING

Managers of Chautauqua Bureaus as Jealous as Opera Stars.

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—The literary career of Speaker Champ Clark has been nearly blasted by politics and the Chautauqua circuit. Arriving in St. Louis Speaker Clark lamented the fact that pressure of politics and lecture duties had made it impossible for him to complete his biography of Thomas H. Benton, the Missouri statesman.

"Now I am done with the lecture business. These Chautauqua bureaus, if you dicker with them long enough, will certainly get your goat. They are more jealous of their lecturers than opera managers are of their stars."

KEEP POSTAL BONDS AT PAR

Savings Banks Trustees Announce
They Will Purchase Them.

Washington, Nov. 18.—In order to maintain the parity of the postal savings bonds the trustees of the postal savings banks announced that they would purchase these securities at par from persons compelled to relinquish their investment. This action resulted from the recent report that the market value of these bonds is only 92.

Postmaster General Hitchcock said no depositor would endanger his principal by exchanging his postal savings deposit for postal savings bonds. The postal savings act authorizes the trustees to withdraw at any time 30 per cent of postal savings funds on deposit for investment in United States bonds. It was this provision that enabled the trustees to offer to buy the postal savings bonds which bear 2½ per cent interest.

Tobacco Case Enlivens Senate
Committee Session.

POMERENE RAPS WICKERSHAM

Ohio Senator Directs Pointed Questions to Witness Before Committee on Interstate Commerce, Which is Investigating the Trust Problem With a View to Enacting New Legislation.

Washington, Nov. 18.—A general attack upon the decree of the circuit court of New York in the dissolution of the American Tobacco company and a specific comparison of the activities of Attorney General Wickersham and former Attorney General Judson Harmon in enforcing the Sherman anti-trust law against great combinations enlivened the hearings of the senate committee on interstate commerce, which is investigating the trust problem with a view to new legislation.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio directed several pointed questions to H. B. Martin, a witness before the committee. "There appears to be little effort in the department of justice to enforce the criminal provisions of the law," Senator Pomerene said. "Do you know of any statute or other authority which justifies an attorney general in taking the position that he may enforce the statute in the civil courts, but decline to enforce its criminal provisions? I regard the course of the department in its failure to enforce these provisions as most reprehensible."

Senator Oliver was the only member of the committee who replied to the attacks on the attorney general. Also addressing the witness he wanted to know what the latter thought of the "comparative reprehensibility" of the attorney general "who actively and successfully enforces a law like this, who resurrects it and makes it effective and proceeds at least toward successful criminal prosecutions, as compared with one of his predecessors, who did not and who practically declared the law a dead letter."

Refers to Judson Harmon.

"I refer to former Attorney General Judson Harmon of Ohio," Senator Oliver said, looking across the table to Senator Pomerene.

The committee showed signs of an incipient outbreak. Senator Pomerene said it was not Mr. Harmon, but his predecessor, Richard Olney, who had said, in substance, that the law was a dead letter. Mr. Harmon, he said, took up and pushed to a decision in the supreme court the transmissouri rate case and made every effort to revivify the Sherman law. Other members of the committee refrained from taking part in the discussion.

The dissolution decree in the American Tobacco company case, dividing the trust into four separate organizations, was characterized several times during the hearings as a construction of the Sherman law that failed to restore competition or meet the spirit of desired trust control. Senator Cummins said he did not believe there could be actual competition enforced under the present Sherman law.

"There are clearly two movements under way for changes in the Sherman law," Senator Sherman said. "The first for a mitigation of the provisions of the law; the other towards amendments and supplementary acts that will make it a more efficient instrument for the preservation of competition."

Senator Cummins referred to a possible limitation of the capital stock of corporations; a divorcing of manufacturing business from sources of supplies and a separation of business and transportation elements as changes in the law which would lead to better competition.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—A conference of the attorneys for the International Harvester company will be held when the refusal of the federal department of justice to accept the company's proffered scheme for reorganization will be discussed, according to officers of the company. They added that probably it would be several days before a new draft could be made of a reorganization plan to be submitted to the attorney general.

Her two brothers, rushing to her assistance, fell victims of Matkovic's deadly aim.

Mr. Andrus has the reputation of being the richest congressman that legislative body has ever held. He owns millions of dollars of Twin City realty. His son is connected with the A. L. Cole Co., at Pequot. Mr. Andrus expressed himself as surprised and delighted with the exhibit which Crow Wing county had to offer. Mr. Gardner also mentioned the Angora cat which Editor George J. Silk, of Pine River, had on display. Tabby captivated the heart of Mr. Andrus and the congressman bought her and took her back to the Empire state.

The difference in the prices quoted nicely typifies the progress which has been made in the organized dairy business in the past thirty years.

They are getting on to the ropes down in German South Africa, having recently ordered 3,000 bushels of pedigreed seed corn from the agronomy department of the University of Wisconsin. Experiments in corn growing have been conducted in the territory mentioned and have been attended with such good results that corn culture is to be taken up on a more extensive scale. The season in South Africa is the reverse of that in the north temperate zone, corn being planted on the 1st of October instead of the 1st of May.

Striking Results of Recent Elections

Most Surprising Feature Is the Increase in the Socialist Vote.

Philadelphia Elects a Reform Mayor—Kentucky Again Democratic.

THE most striking results of the recent elections in the country generally were the Republican successes in the states of New York, New Jersey and Maryland, the Democratic victories in the Ohio municipal contests, the success of the "reformers" in Philadelphia and a notable increase in the Socialist vote in various parts of the country. In Ohio eight Socialist mayors were elected and in New York state one.

In New York state the people, who in 1910 gave the Democrats a victory unprecedented since 1891, elected an assembly which will have a Republican majority of fifty-two over the forty-eight Democrats and one Social-ity of 6,000, there looms up larger than ever a boom for Governor Harmon as a presidential candidate. The newly elected mayor is a close personal friend of Governor Harmon.

The following states elected governors: Rhode Island, which went Republican; Massachusetts, Democratic; Maryland, Republican; Kentucky, Democratic; Mississippi, Democratic; and New Mexico.

Ollie M. James of Kentucky will succeed Senator Paynter in the senate. The legislature is Democratic in both branches. Ex-Senator James B. McCreary (Dem.) was elected governor.

Kentucky, for years considered in the balance between the Democrats and Republicans, has thus returned to the ranks of the former.

New Mexico held its first election as a state.

Socialist Gains.

The most surprising feature of the result is the increase in the Socialist vote. In New York state it swept Schenectady and put the Democrats in the third column in Chautauque county.

In Schenectady the Socialists elected as mayor Dr. George R. Lunn, a clergyman and editor, by a majority amounting to two-thirds of the total vote cast. They carried the common council, which had been Republican for years, and they elected their whole ticket with the exception of one candidate. They also elected an assemblyman, the first to appear in the capitol at Albany as representing the Socialist party.

In Chautauque county the Socialists polled a larger vote than the Democrats, the Republicans carrying the county.

In the western states the Socialist vote was also heavy. In Columbus, O., the Socialist candidate for mayor polled almost as many votes as Marshall, Republican.

The returns in some of the Ohio cities, in eight of which the Socialists elected mayors, give them a total thousands in advance of any previous showing and put them close in order numerically with the two old parties.

Governor Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts.

In Ohio, as well, where actual Socialist candidates were not elected, progressives of more or less radical views were returned by the Republicans.

Besides Schenectady and Columbus, Cleveland and Dayton were the most favorable cities for the Socialist party.

At Bridgeport, Conn., the Socialist vote showed a gain of 900 per cent over two years ago. The Socialists elected one alderman, their first in the history of the city.

In the Second Kansas congressional district, where a successor to the late Congressman Mitchell was elected, Joseph A. Taggart, Democrat, was elected.

The election in Mississippi was a mere ratification of the nominations made in the Democratic primary. Earl Brewer was elected governor.

NATIONAL FLOWER UP AGAIN.

Clubwomen Will Ask Congress to Select the Mountain Laurel.

The National Federation of Women's Clubs has decided that the United States has gone too long without a national flower, and clubwomen of the country have been asked to sign a petition asking congress to select the mountain laurel.

When the movement has been endorsed by the clubs the federation will appoint a committee to present the petition to congress and work for the passage of an act.

The mountain laurel is a small flower containing the red and white colors of the United States flag and unfolding in almost a perfect star.

Gladiators of Old.

A man who had once been a gladiator was always regarded as disgraced. If a combatant were vanquished, he was not killed, the people decided his fate, turning down their thumbs when they wished him to be killed. Contestants were taught the postures to be assumed in falling and in dying, and such food was eaten as would thicken their blood in order to give the spectators a more leisurely view of their death. Combats of gladiators continued until the reign of Honorius, first Christian emperor, in 404 A. D., when Telemachus, a monk, rushed between two adversaries at Rome and by his self sacrifice occasioned the decree for their abolition.

An Old Family.

He-Miss Bellacour claims to belong to a very old family. She—Well, she's justified. There are six of those girls, and the youngest of them must be at least thirty-five.—Exchange.

GRIDIRON STORIES

Football Games That Were Won by a Tongue Lashing.

A TALK THAT BEAT HARVARD.

Trainer Mike Murphy Made the Appeal to Penn. and the Red and Blue Rose to the Occasion and to Victory. A Dog Won a Game For Columbia.

Writing on football in the American Magazine, Edward Lyell Fox tells of football defeats that were turned into victories by tongue lashing. He says: "There are instances whereby coaches have won games all unbeknownst to the public. These are the crises that have been faced in the dressing room between the halves, with the team stretched out dirty and bruised, lashed by coaches' tongues or stirred by the appeal personal, an apparently disorganized and defeated rabble often becomes a steady but furious fighting unit."

In 1905 Pennsylvania went to their dressing room after playing a 6 to 6 first half with Harvard. The tie score was misleading. Harvard had played the better football. They had ripped the red and blue line to tatters. And Harvard would have crushed Pennsylvania if Mike Murphy, the veteran trainer, had not jumped upon a table and talked three minutes to the team. Murphy, like Antony, was no orator.

"Do you want a lot of bean eaters up there in Boston to crow over the hash their team made of you?" cried he. "They'll turn that city inside out and on good Penn money at that! Your friends 'll be courtin' free lunch counters for weeks if you let those dubs get away with this! Myself—I almost made me cry to see those big stiff walk all over you." (He gulped noticeably.) "Because I know how good you are. You weren't right that half. You'll kill 'em now. You've got to. Think of the crowd. And say, fellows, if there's no mother, father, sister or girl up there waitin', just think of me, fellows. Think of me, that takes care of you all. For I've got the 'con,' boys."

"He coughed, brushed his eyes with the back of his hand and faltered on: 'I won't be with you very much longer, and I want you to win this game.'"

"He finished speaking and stole away without a word. There was no cheering; the men were thinking too hard. The next half Harvard found a different Pennsylvania team, a team whose emotions were keyed up to such a pitch that their fierce football has never since been seen on Franklin field. Harvard was dazed, swept away and beaten—because a man spoke."

"Another remarkable turning of a game between the halves occurred at Ithaca in 1905. Cornell led Columbia by 6 to 0 when the teams returned to the dressing rooms. Columbia had not recovered from a wearing game with Princeton the week before. Many of the men were overtrained. There was a distinct feeling of the hopelessness of it all when the players lay down upon the floor and benches. Only Bill, a white ball terrier mascot, showed signs of liveliness. It was cold in the dressing room, and a trainer shook the ashes in the stove. He used a poker, the end of which became red hot. When finally he laid down the metal rod the red whiteness, but the heat remained. Bill, deciding that the poker was to be played with like a stick, caught the heated end in his mouth. Instantly his lips seared and turned black. Bill only shook the poker harder. Two men grabbed him and tried to force him to open his mouth. But Bill fought back, and finally they had to choke him before he would loosen his grip. It was then that Coach Morley nudged Captain Fisher and pointed to the dog. Catching the idea, Fisher sprang to his feet and built up a speech around Bill. He compared Bill's nerve to the team's and asked the men if they were not ashamed of themselves. His closing sentence was: 'Just play for Bill, Bill, Bill!'

"When Columbia returned to the field Bill, yelping furiously, led the way. All through the half the team heard him barking from the side lines. Said Von Saltza, the big tackle, after the game, 'We heard every yelp, and it simply drove us.'"

"Also Bill's yelping was so good that Columbia won out, 12 to 6."

Very often, Mr. Fox declares, the ability of one man to kick has determined the outcome of the game. He writes:

"In 1907 Minnesota and Wisconsin played 17 to 17. The match has been hailed as the most sensational ever seen. That it ended in a tie was because of Capron. He saved Minnesota. He kicked three goals from the field. The game began with a bewildering series of rushes, end runs and triple forward passes. The score leaped to Wisconsin 12, Minnesota 5. Here Capron began to kick. Standing on the thirty yard line, he drove the ball between the posts. Wisconsin's lead was reduced to three points. Again, this time from the forty-five yard line, Capron sent the ball sailing true. Minnesota led 13 to 12. The first half ended, however, with Wisconsin swinging back into the lead. A touchdown came after a succession of end runs. The score was Wisconsin 17, Minnesota 13. In the second half the teams steadied down and played 'close football.' No more scores were likely. But in the closing minutes Capron sent a kick twisting from the forty-five yard line. It cleared the bar, and the score was tied. Wisconsin had the better team; Minnesota had Capron."

CONTENTMENT.

Socrates, on being invited by Archelaus to come to his house and he would make him rich, sent this response, that in Athens a measure of flour could be bought for a cent, and there was water in the public fountains. "If my things do not seem sufficient for me," he added, "I adapt myself to them, and so they become sufficient."—Plutarch.

CARBOLIC ACID ANTIDOTE.

Tincture of Iodine, It Is Claimed, Gives Remarkable Results.

Among cases of accidental poisoning those caused by carbolic acid are the most frequent. These generally arise through mistaking a solution of carbolic acid for some medicine or, as occurs very often, for some alcoholic liquor.

The remedies generally employed in dealing with this kind of poisoning consist in washing the stomach with alkaline water or pure glycerin, followed by the ingestion of alkaline sulphates, oil and white of eggs beaten up. Some years ago, however, Dr. Maberly showed that tincture of iodine, administered in fairly large doses, may give much better results.

On one occasion when called in to attend a young negro who, thinking he was drinking whisky, had swallowed a quantity of a strong solution of carbolic acid and who consequently was severely burned about the lips and throat, Dr. Maberly hurriedly made him swallow a teaspoonful of tincture of iodine in a cupful of water. A few minutes afterward the patient was able to swallow some milk without any difficulty, speaking became easier, and he very soon completely recovered.

The same immediate and complete effect was obtained on administering tincture of iodine in doses of five drops in water in the case of a three-year-old boy who had just swallowed some carbolic acid.

Similar success was met with in a third case of carbolic acid poisoning, the victim being a child of two years of age. In this instance the iodine treatment could not be begun till thirty hours after the ingestion of the poison. The alarming symptoms soon disappeared under the influence of tincture of iodine given every four hours in doses of five drops in a teaspoonful of water. The little patient was cured.

The tincture of iodine neutralizes the carbolic or phenic acid by forming with it an iodophenate, insoluble and therefore harmless.—European Edition New York Herald.

CURIOUS CONTRASTS.

Authors Whose Writings and Methods of Life Were Contradictory.

A man of genius when he writes a book and "all the god comes rushing into his soul" is in an abnormal state, and hence lives of men of letters have often been in glaring contrast to their writings. Montaigne tells us that he always observed supercelestial opinions to be accompanied with subterranean morals. On the other hand, the most latitudinarian professors of epicureanism have often lived like ascetics or trappists. Some of the best sea songs have been written by men who never snuffed a salt water breeze, stirring war songs have been written by timid men and women who would have shrieked at the sight of a mouse, and hymns steeped in the very spirit of devotion have been written by men of doubtful morality, who were never less at home than in a Christian church. Charles Lamb was ready to wager that Milton's morning hymn in Paradise was penned at midnight, and we know positively that Thompson, who sang the praises of early rising in the "Seasons," used to lie abed till noon. Sir Richard Steele could discourse eloquently on temperance when he was not drunk. Woodworth in his "Old Oaken Bucket" sang the praise of cold water under the inspiration of brandy. Dr. Johnson, who wrote so well on politeness, interrupted his opponents with "You lie sir!" "You are a vile Whig, sir!" Burns was a compound of "dirt and deity." Rousseau, who was always filling people's eyes with tears, betrayed and slandered his benefactors in turn and sent his children to the foundlings hospital. When Moore proposed to Scott to go and see Melrose abbey, as Sir Walter had described it, by moonlight, "Pooh, pooh," said Scott, "you don't suppose I ever saw it by moonlight!"—William Matthews, Sainte-Beuve's Monday Chats.

Striking Results of Recent Elections

Most Surprising Feature Is the Increase in the Socialist Vote. Philadelphia Elects a Reform Mayor—Kentucky Again Democratic.

THE most striking results of the recent elections in the country generally were the Republican successes in the states of New York, New Jersey and Maryland, the Democratic victories in the Ohio municipal contests, the success of the "reformers" in Philadelphia and a notable increase in the Socialist vote in various parts of the country. In Ohio eight Socialist mayors were elected and in New York state one.

GOVERNOR JAMES B. MCCREARY OF KENTUCKY

In New York state the people, who in 1910 gave the Democrats a victory unprecedented since 1891, elected an assembly which will have a Republican majority of fifty-two over the forty-eight Democrats and one Socialist.

1st. The Democrats lost control of the legislature, which will have a Democratic senate and Republican assembly.

In Greater New York Tammany got a jolt. The Democratic judiciary and county tickets were elected in New York county by small pluralities. The Republicans won the board of aldermen. In Kings county the Tammany candidates were overwhelmed by a fusion ticket of Republicans and Independence leaguers.

Philadelphia defeated the Republican machine by a close vote, George H. Earle, the organization candidate for mayor, being beaten by the reformer, Rudolph Blankenburg.

New Jersey elected a Republican legislature.

There is a recrudescence of Tom Johnsonism in Cleveland, O., where Johnson's spirit lives after him. His man, Newton D. Baker, was elected mayor by such a sweeping majority as to suggest that the city is ready to return to Johnson doctrines.

Brand Whitlock, the Socialist mayor of Toledo, O., was re-elected by his usual majority.

Foss Re-elected.

Governor Foss was re-elected in Massachusetts by a majority of 7,734. Last year he got 35,000. This year he was the only man elected on the Democratic ticket.

In Massachusetts the campaign was as bitter as has been seen in a decade. Governor Foss promises to have passed a law forbidding the employment of paid workers at the polls and compelling the pre-election publication of all campaign expenses.

Maryland went Republican, electing P. L. Goldsborough governor over Arthur P. Gorman, son of the late Senator Gorman.

It was the second time in more than thirty years that Maryland elected a Republican state ticket.

There was no fight to speak of in Rhode Island, and Governor Pothier, Republican, was re-elected.

With the election of Henry T. Hunt, Democrat, as mayor of Cincinnati, a city with a normal Republican majority.

A Stock Story.

"When I was a barefoot lad," said Dustin Stax, "I had to spend a good deal of time minding the stock on father's farm. I'll never forget the day when father told me to take a rope and hold a couple of bull calves."

"What did they do?"

"They scorched my hands with the rope and then turned around and stepped on me."

"Unruly disposition?"

"No; wonderful instinct. They recognized me at a glance as a small stockholder."—Washington Star.

GRASS BANKS FOR CANAL.

Several Thousand Pounds of Seed Sent to Panama For the Experiment.

By the time the Panama canal is opened the ships may sail through terraced green lawns instead of the bare yellow earth slopes now in evidence, says Peru Today. The reason is not altogether an aesthetic one.

It is believed that seeding the sloping sides of the canal through the cuts with a strong grass may prevent the slides now so frequent and will reduce the wearing down by the tropical rains. H. Pittier, an expert botanist from the Smithsonian institution, has charge of an attempt to test this theory, for which purpose the agricultural department at Washington has sent down several thousand pounds of grass seed.

Even though it be impossible to prevent entirely the occasional big slides, it seems almost certain that this measure will result in a great saving by holding the ground from starting except under great pressure and by reducing the erosion which brings down a tremendous amount of earth in the course of the year.

Football Games That Were Won by a Tongue Lashing.

A TALK THAT BEAT HARVARD.

Trainer Mike Murphy Made the Appeal to Penn. and the Red and Blue Rose to the Occasion and to Victory. A Dog Won a Game For Columbia.

Writing on football in the American Magazine, Edward Lyell Fox tells of football defeats that were turned into victories by tongue lashing. He says: "There are instances whereby coaches have won games all unbeknownst to the public. These crises that have been faced in the dressing room between the halves, with the team stretched out dirty and bruised, lashed by coaches' tongues or stirred by the appeal personal, an apparently disorganized and defeated rabble often becomes a steady but furious fighting unit."

In 1905 Pennsylvania went to their dressing room after playing a 6 to 6 first half with Harvard. The tie score was misleading. Harvard had ripped the better football. They had ripped the red and blue line to tatters. And Harvard would have crushed Pennsylvania if Mike Murphy, the veteran trainer, had not jumped upon a table and talked three minutes to the team. Murphy, like Antony, was no orator.

"Do you want a lot of bean eaters up there in Boston to crow over the hash their team made of you?" cried he. "They'll turn that city inside out and on good Penn money at that! Your friends 'll be courtin' free lunch counters for weeks if you let those dubs get away with this! Myself, I almost made me cry to see those big stiff walk all over you." (He gulped noticeably.) "Because I know how good you are. You weren't right that half. You'll kill 'em now. You've got to. Think of the crowd. And say, fellows, if there's no mother, father, sister or girl up there watchin', just think of me, fellows. Think of me, that takes care of you all. For I've got the 'con,' boys."

"He finished speaking and stole away without a word. There was no cheering; the men were thinking too hard. The next half Harvard found a different Pennsylvania team, a team whose emotions were keyed up to such a pitch that their fierce football has never since been seen on Franklin field. Harvard was dazed, swept away and beaten—because a man spoke."

"Another remarkable turning of a game between the halves occurred at Ithaca in 1905. Cornell led Columbia by 6 to 0 when the teams returned to the dressing rooms. Columbia had not recovered from a wearing game with Princeton the week before. Many of the men were overtrained. There was a distinct feeling of the hopelessness of it all when the players lay down upon the floor and benches. Only Bill, a white bull terrier mascot, showed signs of liveliness. It was cold in the dressing room, and a trainer shook the ashes in the stove. He used a poker. The end of which became red hot. When finally he laid down the metal rod the red whiteness, but the heat remained. Bill, deciding that the poker was to be played with like a stick, caught the heated end in his mouth. Instantly his lips seared and turned black. Bill only shook the poker harder. Two men grabbed him and tried to force him to open his mouth. But Bill fought back, and finally they had to choke him before he would loosen his grip. It was then that Coach Morley nudged Captain Fisher and pointed to the dog. Catching the idea, Fisher sprang to his feet and built up a speech around Bill. He compared Bill's nerve to the team's and asked the men if they were not ashamed of themselves. His closing sentence was, 'Just play for Bill, Bill, Bill!'

"When Columbia returned to the field, Bill, yelping furiously, led the way. All through the half the team heard him barking from the side lines. Said Von Saltza, the big tackle, after the game, 'We heard every yelp, and it simply drove us.'"

"Also Bill's yelping was so good that Columbia won out, 12 to 6."

Very often, Mr. Fox declares, the ability of one man to kick has determined the outcome of the game. He writes: "In 1907 Minnesota and Wisconsin played 17 to 17. The match has been hailed as the most sensational ever seen. That it ended in a tie was because of Capron. He saved Minnesota. He kicked three goals from the field. The game began with a bewildering series of rushes, end runs and triple forward passes. The score leaped to Wisconsin 12, Minnesota 5. Here Capron came to kick. Standing on the thirty yard line, he drove the ball between the posts. Wisconsin's lead was reduced to three points. Again, this time from the forty-five yard line, Capron sent the ball sailing true. Minnesota led 13 to 12. The first half ended, however, with Wisconsin swinging back into the lead. A touchdown made after a succession of end runs. The score was Wisconsin 17, Minnesota 13. In the second half the teams steadied down and played 'close football.' No more scores were likely. But in the closing minutes Capron sent a kick twisting from the forty-five yard line. It cleared the bar, and the score was tied. Wisconsin had the better team; Minnesota had Capron."

Clubwomen Will Ask Congress to Select the Mountain Laurel.

The National Federation of Women's Clubs has decided that the United States has gone too long without a national flower, and clubwomen of the country have been asked to sign a petition asking congress to select the mountain laurel.

When the movement has been endorsed by the clubs the federation will appoint a committee to present the petition to congress and work for the passage of an act.

The mountain laurel is a small flower containing the red and white colors of the United States flag and unfolding in almost a perfect star.

Gladiators of Old.

A man who had once been a gladiator was always regarded as disgraced. If a combatant were vanquished, but not killed, the people decided his fate, turning down their thumbs when they wished him to be killed. Contestants were taught the postures to be assumed in falling and in dying, and such food was eaten as would thicken their blood in order to give the spectators a more leisurely view of their death. Combats of gladiators continued until the reign of Honorius, first christian emperor, in 404 A. D., when Telemachus, a monk, rushed between two adversaries at Rome and by his self sacrifice occasioned the decree for their abolition.

se range towns with Brainerd will

t when it comes to advertising county.

The Crow Wing county development association is entitled to five legates and a large number of aliates. Among the public spirited n whom Judge Albright has had hance to interview on the question attending the meeting, the follow-have signified their intention of ng: W. H. Gemmell, George A.

ene, M. T. Dunn, J. P. Ernster, L.
Depue, Dr. Werner Hemstead,
F. Alderman, E. R. Smith, Mayor
P. Dunn, Senator Charles D. John-n, Carl Zapffe, Louis Knudsen, Col.
J. Halstead, Con O'Brien and John kelberg.

There are more who will go and entire party will easily embrace energetic boosters of Brainerd and ow Wing county. And the fact st not be lost sight of that Brain-may land the next convention
e. Bemidji has a faculty of geting into the spot light or spotting ae meeker neighbor's light. But the present time Brainerd is in ime light.

No meeting's deliberations are be-more widely quoted than the development association gathering held Brainerd on December 2, 1910, en Gov. A. O. Eberhart made his ous speech to the delegates.
So much argument has resulted from what he said or what others thought he said that it is interesting to turn back to the files of the Brainerd Dispatch and read what this paper took down as his utterances on reapportionment.

"I do not believe in calling an extra session," said Governor Eberhart.
"No member of the legislature can go home and square himself with his constituents unless he passes that bill (on reapportionment.) There is no need to instruct the legislature.
It knows its duty. By doing its duty it will be fulfilling and carrying out the pledges of both parties."

"If reapportionment is slighted," said the governor emphatically, "I might be forced to call an extra session."

"There is no threat in this. The blame for any delinquency in securing reapportionment should not be placed on the governor but on the delinquent legislators."

Brainerd secured more advertising from this gathering then from any other event ever held here. Even now more mention is being made about what was said and done at the Brainerd convention than what was said at Bemidji or Duluth.

President C. F. Ladner, of the St.
Cloud Commercial club, has announced the appointment of the St.
Cloud delegates to the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting as follows: F. L. Randall, Alvah Eastman, C. F. MacDonald, C.
A. Gilman, R. B. Brower, William
Westerman, H. C. Irvin, C. L. Atwood,
W. A. Shoemaker, Paul Ahles.

The Roseau county delegates as sent in to the Dispatch are G. H.
Mattson and R. J. Bell, of Roseau; Paul Marschack and Peter Alldrin, of Warroad.

The Dwarf Mouse House

In England and Scotland lives the dwarf mouse, only two inches long from nose to base of tail. The little creature is chiefly remarkable because of the house he builds. He weaves it like a large hall, with an opening that automatically closes after him.
This house he suspends on wheat or other grain stalks, where it is kept dry. The ingenuity of this little animal is almost as great as that of the makers of golden grain belt beers, who have done so much for science in learning how to make a product absolutely pure and safe from germ life.
One trial will convince you that they cost more to make. Order of Walter Bolton, Tel. 179J4, Brainerd, Minn.

Saved Many From Death

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup,
asthma, or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right.

"CROW WING COUNTY FAIR"

Has First Performance Last Night
Under Auspices Episcopal Guild
St. Paul's Church

A LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS

Pretty Costumes, Stage Effects, Handsome Choruses and Good Singing Make it Successful

Brainerd has not had a county fair for many years and when the Episcopal Guild of St. Paul's church decided to be the sponsors for a fair, many shook their heads and wondered if a play based on such a theme would succeed. And it was successful, as each one of last night's audience attested.

People attended the performance at the opera house Friday night expecting to be amused and they were not disappointed. From the opening chorus given by 200 little girls, each with a Teddy bear, representing the Teddy Bear chorus, followed by the Boogie Boo chorus to the grand finale, the Honeymoon chorus, it was a succession of pleasing stage pictures, dashing choruses and funny complications.

The big stage of the Brainerd opera house was transformed overhead, sidewise and rearwards into a scene which even the oldest inhabitants will hardly distinguish from the fair formerly held at the Swartz fair grounds and later at Pequot.
Overhead were suspended scores of old-time patchwork quilts. To the right of the stage the committees arranged a splendid display of cabbages, parsnips, squash, pumpkins, potatoes and other vegetables. To the left was the lunch counter and lemonade stand, and to the back of the stage were the African dodger, side show tent, wheel of fortune and fakers' stands.

About the time the pretty, dainty, sweet chorus of Teddy Bear carriers and Boogie Bo exponents had finished their songs the farmers and town folks began to arrive. The county fair band of four musicians played nobly and it was worth the price of admission to see "Fatty"
Woods play the snare drum near little Slipp's base drum. Another affecting scene was "Ox" Mahood begging his mother for a drink of lemonade.
A touching picture was Fritz Koop and his family of a dozen. Al Mraz was the boss of the county and had charge of the balloon ascensions.

There was something doing every minute and the party gave full scope to all the cast and choruses to show their talent and musical ability.
Each one did well and all assisted to make the show a grand success. The fair concluded with the Honey Moon chorus where eight pretty girls wearing picture hats, and their escorts in full dress sang a dashing song and the curtain goes down on one of the most beautiful scenes with novel electrical effects ever produced by amateur talent in this city.

Miss B. Eleanor McCall is entitled to credit for her success in directing the play. Graham's orchestra furnished the music. The performance will be repeated tonight and judging by the way tickets are selling it will again be a well filled house.

pletely cured." Heals Burns, Bolls,

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Empress

The Empress presents a good bill Saturday and Sunday. A prominent feature is the film showing the auto races at Philadelphia on October 9.
Two very interesting are based on subjects in literature. Maud Muller is shown raking the hay and incidentally gathering in the heart of the judge who studied the pretty girl and was won by her charming simplicity, her genuine good humor and natural wit.

"Kit Carson's Wooing" is a very dramatic picture and gives scenes in the life of this well known scout and shows how Cupid captured a man whom the Indians could not get.

At the Grand

The Grand has a special bill for Sunday. Three feature films are shown. "The Tale of a Cat" will interest the little ones and their elders too. It shows the wanderings of the feline and gives a character study of a little boy and a girl.

"The Lonely Range" is a thrilling western drama and is based on the central idea that circumstantial evidence can sometimes lead to wrong conclusions and that in some cases it certainly is not conclusive proof of a man's guilt.

"Following Cousin's Footsteps" is a laugh getter and should be seen by all Grand patrons. Two songs complete the program which has been made generous offering for Sunday.

At the Opera House

The inauguration of vaudeville at the Brainerd opera house will be memorable by the engagement of Madam Lynn Chester, a soloist of high standing in the musical world.
Sunday evening. Madame Chester has selected a trio of solos which will give her audience every opportunity of judging of the wonderful quality of her voice, and she should be greeted by a capacity house. She was secured for the engagement by Manager Tom Brown as a special and is satisfied that the artist will be one of the big attractions of the season.

The opera house's pictures de lux will be shown and a program of spectacularly pleasing features will be given.

Hereafter, beginning with next Monday night two high class vaudeville acts will be given and every effort will be made to give the patrons of the popular amusement home a program which will be of the highest possible merit. Two performances will be given Sunday evening at 7:30 and 9:00 p. m.

"CROW WING COUNTY FAIR"

Has First Performance Last Night Under Auspices Episcopal Guild St. Paul's Church

A LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS

Pretty Costumes, Stage Effects, Hand-some Choruses and Good Sing-ing Make it Successful

Brainerd has not had a county fair for many years and when the Episcopal Guild of St. Paul's church decided to be the sponsors for a fair, many shook their heads and wondered if a play based on such a theme would succeed. And it was successful, as each one of last night's audience attested.

People attended the performance at the opera house Friday night expecting to be amused and they were not disappointed. From the opening chorus given by 200 little girls, each with a Teddy bear, representing the Teddy Bear chorus, followed by the Boogie Bo chorus to the grand finale, the Honeymoon chorus, it was a succession of pleasing stage pictures, dashing choruses and funny complications.

The big stage of the Brainerd opera house was transformed overhead, sidewise and rearwards into a scene which even the oldest inhabitants will hardly distinguish from the fair formerly held at the Swartz fair grounds and later at Pequot. Overhead were suspended scores of old-time patchwork quilts. To the right of the stage the committees arranged a splendid display of cabbages, parsnips, squash, pumpkins, potatoes and other vegetables. To the left was the lunch counter and lemonade stand, and to the back of the stage were the African dodger, side show tent, wheel of fortune and fakers' stands.

About the time the pretty, dainty, sweet chorus of Teddy Bear carriers and Boogie Bo exponents had finished their songs the farmers and town folks began to arrive. The county fair band of four musicians played nobly and it was worth the price of admission to see "Fatty" Woods play the snare drum near little Slipp's base drum. Another affecting scene was "Ox" Mahood begging his mother for a drink of lemonade. A touching picture was Fritz Koop and his family of a dozen. Al Mraz was the boss of the county and had charge of the balloon ascensions.

There was something doing every minute and the party gave full scope to all the cast and choruses to show their talent and musical ability. Each one did well and all assisted to make the show a grand success. The fair concluded with the Honey Moon chorus where eight pretty girls wearing picture hats, and their escorts in full dress sang a dashing song and the curtain goes down on one of the most beautiful scenes with novel electrical effects ever produced by amateur talent in this city.

Miss B. Eleanor McCall is entitled to credit for her success in directing the play. Graham's orchestra furnished the music. The performance will be repeated tonight and judging by the way tickets are selling it will again be a well filled house.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Empress

The Empress presents a good bill Saturday and Sunday. A prominent feature is the film showing the auto races at Philadelphia on October 9.

Two very interesting are based on subjects in literature. Maud Muller is shown raking the hay and incidentally gathering in the heart of the judge who studied the pretty girl and was won by her charming simplicity, her genuine good humor and natural wit.

"Kit Carson's Wooling" is a very dramatic picture and gives scenes in the life of this well known scout and shows how Cupid captured a man whom the Indians could not get.

At the Grand

The Grand has a special bill for Sunday. Three feature films are shown. "The Tale of a Cat" will interest the little ones and their elders too. It shows the wanderings of the feline and gives a character study of a little boy and girl.

"The Lonely Range" is a thrilling western drama and is based on the central idea that circumstantial evidence can sometimes lead to wrong conclusions and that in some cases it certainly is not conclusive proof of a man's guilt.

"Following Cousin's Footsteps" is a laugh getter and should be seen by all Grand patrons. Two songs complete the program which has been made generous offering for Sunday.

At the Opera House

The inauguration of vaudeville at the Brainerd opera house will be memorable by the engagement of Madam Lynn Chester, a soloist of high standing in the musical world. Sunday evening, Madame Chester has selected a trio of solos which will give her audience every opportunity of judging of the wonderful quality of her voice, and she should be greeted by a capacity house. She was secured for the engagement by Man-

Proves Quinine is Never Effective in the Cure of a Severe Cold or the Grippe

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects, as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

In ponds where carp are raised for market the practice is quite common of fattening the fish before catching them by feeding them soaked shelled corn, which they are said to eat greedily. Even fish know a good thing when they get it.

One should not only exercise care in the matter of the terms of notes which one signs, but also in the wording and terms of contracts for land that he may contemplate purchasing. It is some bother perhaps to look into this matter carefully and if necessary pay a good attorney for doing so, but in the end one may save hundreds and possibly thousands of dollars.

The San Jose scale is a pest that requires a stronger spray than tender growing foliage will stand. For this reason the treatment should be made between the time the leaves fall in autumn and the time they start in the spring. If the job is delayed until spring the spraying will also play smash with the green aphids, which is a troublesome pest in many sections.

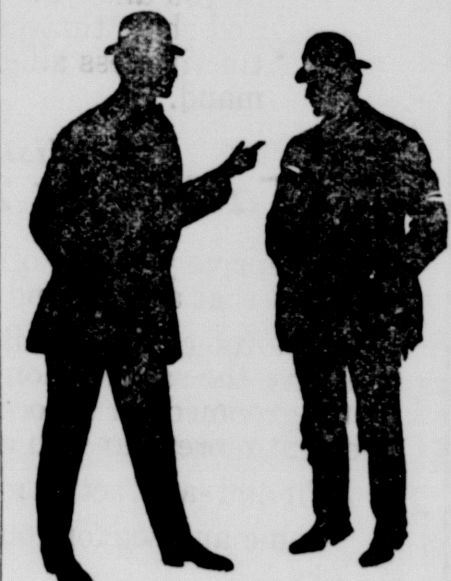

Her Suffering.

"Ah," she sighed, "for many years I've suffered from dyspepsia."

"And don't you take anything for it?" her friend asked. "You look healthy enough."

"Oh," she replied, "it's my husband that has it."

Brush land or wood soil is ideal for growing potatoes. This is due to the mellowness of the soil resulting from the large amount of humus it contains and the usual freedom of the soil from weed seeds. Where new land is not available much the same condition can be had on a piece of newly plowed pasture or on a clover meadow the last crop of which has been turned under the preceding fall. In both of these cases there will be a good supply of humus and few weeds.

WITCHCRAFT IN SCOTLAND.

Beatrice Layng's Fate at the Hands of the Mob in 1705.

That belief in witchcraft and brutal treatment of alleged witches once loomed large in Scotland is shown in Stewart Dick's "The Pageant of the Forth." In 1705 Pittenweem gained unenviable notoriety from a series of prosecutions of old women, and the pamphleteers of the day were kept busy on both sides in defending and denouncing the action of the magistrates. The author says:

"It seems that a blacksmith, one Patrick Morton, being taken ill, declared that he was bewitched, and on his instigation a number of old women were thrown into prison. Bullied by the magistrates and ministers of the town by day and tortured by their guards by night, who never let them sleep, but kept them awake by pricking them with pins, these miserable old women were soon induced to confess anything."

"One woman in particular, Beatrice Layng, had been singled out by Morton for his special vengeance. He said that she came asking him to make some nails for her. He, believing they were for some evil purpose, refused to do so, and she went off muttering imprecations. When he fell ill she was heard to say, 'He might blame his own tongue for his ill.' On this tissue of trivialities she was imprisoned, and practically under torture she acknowledged to the ministers and magistrates that she had made a wax image of Morton and stuck pins in it."

"After a long period of judicial bullying she was set free or, in other words, handed over to the mob to work their will on her. Hanged on a rope between a ship and the shore, she was pelted with stones till half dead and finally pressed to death under a door. It seems that in those days no one was safe against the wildest accusations which might be brought against him."

The Kansas City Star, owned and published by William R. Nelson, has put up $600 in cash prizes, which is to be distributed to the boys of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma who raise next year the best acre of corn as well as the most perfect specimens of single ears and groups of ears. Already the boys in the states mentioned are beginning to plan for the contest, which not only gives promise of being a splendid means of arousing the interest and occupying the energy of the boys, but of having a very tangible result along the line of a production of more and better corn.

It is seldom that profit or benefit comes through getting two bad things together, but there seems to be an exception in the case of using convict labor on the bad roads of the country. In several states where the system has been or is being tried a twofold result has been noticed—roads have been improved at a minimum cost, while the men performing the work under the supervision of proper authority have, through the wholesome influence of exercise, sunshine and fresh air, taken a decided step ahead toward better citizenship. Every state has its bad men and its bad roads. The two should be got together.

Hardly a community but has two types of citizens—the one deserving and receiving the contempt of all fair minded people, the other meriting the greatest respect. The types referred to are respectively those who will not and those who try to pay their honest debts. Instances are frequent in which folks of the former class have money aplenty to spend for most anything under the sun, but nary a cent to pay on an obligation. Those of the other class, who take a reasonable attitude toward their debts, will often deny themselves and go short on things they really need to meet obligations when they become due. In the same measure that the class first named is deserving of censure the latter is worthy of respect and encouragement in every way.

To Rebuild Historic Church.
Christ church, Boston, from the steeple of which were hung the lights which sent Paul Revere on his ride through Middlesex, is to be closed to the public for a year while the edifice is being rebuilt and made fireproof. The danger of the old church's being destroyed by fire has been present for years.

Corrected.
The Artist—See a little daub of mine, you see, dear madam. Miss Gush (gushingly)—Oh, no! You are entirely too modest. I should call it quite a big daub.—Puck.

MISFORTUNE.
Misfortune when we look upon it with our eyes is smaller than when our imagination sinks this evil down into the recesses of our soul.—Goethe.

Good For Evil.
"I trust you try to return good for evil," said the high minded man.
"I not only try," said Mr. Sirius Barker, "but I succeed. Bliggins gave me one of his cigars yesterday, and I gave him one of mine this morning."—Washington Star.

WITCHCRAFT IN SCOTLAND.

Beatrice Layng's Fate at the Hands of the Mob in 1705.

That belief in witchcraft and brutal treatment of alleged witches once loomed large in Scotland is shown in Stewart Dick's "The Pageant of the Forth." In 1705 Pittenweem gained unenviable notoriety from a series of prosecutions of old women, and the pamphleteers of the day were kept busy on both sides in defending and denouncing the action of the magistrates. The author says:

"It seems that a blacksmith, one Patrick Morton, being taken ill, declared that he was bewitched, and on his instigation a number of old women were thrown into prison. Bullied by the magistrates and ministers of the town by day and tortured by their guards by night, who never let them sleep, but kept them awake by pricking them with pins, these miserable old women were soon induced to confess anything."

"One woman in particular, Beatrice Layng, had been singled out by Morton for his special vengeance. He said that she came asking him to make some nails for her. He, believing they were for some evil purpose, refused to do so, and she went off muttering imprecations. When he fell ill she was heard to say, 'He might blame his own tongue for his ill.' On this tissue of trivialities she was imprisoned, and practically under torture she acknowledged to the ministers and magistrates that she had made a wax image of Morton and stuck pins in it."

"After a long period of judicial bullying she was set free or, in other words, handed over to the mob to work their will on her. Hanged on a rope between a ship and the shore, she was pelted with stones till half dead and finally pressed to death under a door. It seems that in those days no one was safe against the wildest accusations which might be brought against him."

The Kansas City Star, owned and published by William R. Nelson, has put up $500 in cash prizes, which is to be distributed to the boys of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma who raise next year the best acre of corn as well as the most perfect specimens of single ears and groups of ears. Already the boys in the states mentioned are beginning to plan for the contest, which not only gives promise of being a splendid means of arousing the interest and occupying the energy of the boys, but of having a very tangible result along the line of a production of more and better corn.

It is seldom that profit or benefit comes through getting two bad things together, but there seems to be an exception in the case of using convict labor on the bad roads of the country. In several states where the system has been or is being tried a twofold result has been noticed—roads have been improved at a minimum cost, while the men performing the work under the supervision of proper authority have, through the wholesome influence of exercise, sunshine and fresh air, taken a decided step ahead toward better citizenship. Every state has its bad men and its bad roads. The two should be got together.

Hardly a community but has two types of citizens—the one deserving and receiving the contempt of all fair minded people, the other meriting the greatest respect. The types referred to are respectively those who will not and those who try to pay their honest debts. Instances are frequent in which folks of the former class have money aplenty to spend for most anything under the sun, but nary a cent to pay on an obligation. Those of the other class, who take a reasonable attitude toward their debts, will often deny themselves and go short on things they actually need to meet obligations when they become due. In the same measure that the class first named is deserving of censure the latter is worthy of respect and encouragement in every way.
